

User stories:

Jhonny struggles to find a job that pays him what he was promised graduating from college.

Shouko believes the recruiters do not have her best interest in mind

Nikky is not tech savvy and wonders if there is an easier way to navigate job search apps

Mack does not like many popular companies vision and thus cannot find a fitting company

By Nicolas Izquierdo

User Stories

Becca sees work as a means to survival, as she has been barely scraping by her entire life.

Betty is a rigorous and a well organized student. She feels she can find a job in the front-end software engineering field.

Johnny believes that every job is a building block for his desired career path, and he believes that certain skills are more necessary than others as a computer programmer.

Daniel believes that any job is worthwhile and a stepping stone to the next job, even if the work at one job seems unrelated to the next.

Dylan has always felt as if he does not belong, and he constantly feels under-qualified.

User Stories:

- Jimmy has been unable to find a job that fits his description and has sufficient pay.
- Dylan wants to gain experience within the industry of his degree but wants flexibility with it.
- Ronnie is constantly busy and needs an easy method in finding a better job.
- With her new degree, Mina wants to find the best option for her so she doesn't have to make drastic career changes in the future again.

By Wichern

User stories

Mike has yet to choose his major, so he doesn't know what kind of internship he should be looking for.

John, who had just entered college, felt very lost. Haven't met new friends yet. Want to know how to be successful in college.

Sissi, because she is not satisfied with her current job. So she want to change to a new job, but without a college degree, there will be no competition.

Megan needed to find a lab related to her major, but her mentor did not recommend or advise her. She wanted to find her favorite lab in other ways.

By Yu